

University of Kragujevac
Faculty of Philology and Arts
SYLLABUS
Programme	English language and literature
Course Name and Code	62335 – Introduction to Contrastive Linguistics
Course Structure (lectures, exercises)	2 lecture classes. 1 exercise class
Year of Study	third
Academic year	2020/2021
Semester	5. fifth
ECTS Credits and Course Status (mandatory or elective)	3 (three), elective course
Instructor(s)	Dr. Dejan Karavesović, Assistant Professor Katarina Subanović, TA, PhD candidate
Course Requirements	None
Course Aims	Introducing theoretical foundations of contrastive linguistics (CL) and main techniques of contrastive analysis. Acquiring practical knowledge through a systematic comparison of the two languages (English and Serbian).
Course Overview	Contrastive and applied linguistics. History and development of CL. Theoretical models as the basis for contrasting. Theories of contrastive analysis and methodological issues. Equivalence and correspondence. Contrastive analysis techniques. Application of the results of contrastive research. Types of corpora. Contrastive analysis and teaching. Contrastive analysis and translation. Description and analysis of actual linguistic issues on lexical and syntactic level.
Grading System (including segment percentage)	Class participation: 15 points Term test: 35 points Examination project: 50 points
Textbooks and Mandatory Reading	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Đorđević, Radmila Gramatika engleskog jezika, Beograd: Čigoja 2002 2. Đorđević, Radmila Uvod u kontrastiranje jezika, Beograd: Faculty of Philology 1994 3. Quirk, R., Greenbaum, S., Leech, G., Svartvik, J. A comprehensive grammar of the English language, London/New York: Longman 1985 4. James, Carl., Contrastive analysis, London: Longman 1980

5. Mrazović, P., Vukadinović, Z, Gramatika srpskog jezika za strance, Sremski Karlovci/Novi Sad: Izdavačka knjižarnica Zorana Stojanovića 2009

- A collection for the work in exercises classes containing selected excerpts thematically connected with the units covered in lecture classes.