

UNIVERSITY OF KRAGUJEVAC
Faculty of Philology and Arts, Kragujevac
S Y L L A B U S
Programme	56: English Language and Literature
Course Name and Code	Phonetics of the English language, 56001
Course Structure (lectures, seminars)	lectures (2), seminars (2)
Year of Study	I
Academic Year	2020/21
Semester	II
ECTS Credits and Course Status (mandatory or elective)	5, mandatory
Instructor(s)	Danica Jerotijević Tišma, PhD
Course Requirements	-
Course Aims	Acquiring general knowledge on phonetics as a linguistic discipline. Students acquire knowledge and skills required for the correct placement and articulation of sounds of Standard British English variety.
Course Overview	Phonetics. Speech sound/phone. International Phonetic Alphabet. Articulatory phonetics. Acoustic phonetics. Speech process. Speech system. System of speech production. Grouping of speech sounds. Articulation of consonants. Place of articulation. Manner of articulation. Simple and compound consonants. Articulation of vowels. Simple vowels. Short and long vowels. Diphthongs. Basic parameters for describing vowels. Suprasegmentals. Intonation. Functions of intonation in the English language. Tone unit. Problems in the analysis of the intonation patterns.
Grading System (including segment percentage)	oral exam 50%, mid-term test 40%, participation in class activities 10%
Textbooks and Mandatory Reading	Mandatory reading: Ladefoged, P. 1993. A course in Phonetics . New York: Harcourt Brace Jovanovich Roach, Peter. 1991. English Phonetics and Phonology . Cambridge: Cambridge University Press. Čubrović, B. 2005. A workbook of English phonology . Beograd: Philologia.